Pro. Profit. Professional.

There are many reasons to become a pro: The passion for the sport itself, the fascination for the game or the unbeatable feeling of winning and to be part of the world class – the 'Global League' – if you will.

However, professional sports always implies Big Business also. Quite similar to today's celebrities, athletes as well as players must contribute a lot more than just talent to become successful. That is mainly because of all the strategic, organisational and administrative factors that sets apart the professionals from the amateurs.

Beside their intense and exhausting daily training it is only possible on rare occasions for athletes and players to get ahead or to stay in business successfully without professional management.

Global League mediates, manages and coaches professionals from all over the world. This is our core business. Interdisciplinary, holistic and personal. That is our commitment.

Philosophy.

Our attitude is simple and straight forward: We want to be successful. Just like our clients. But not at any price. It is, after all, the human being that is important to us. Clients are our partners. They are the basis of our business. They determine our thoughts and actions.

Therefore our clients will, first of all, have to fully agree with whatever kind of plans, strategies and arrangements we come up with, before we take any actions. This is the only way to build trust. And this is the only way to establish a long lasting, honest business relationship.

Profile.

Global League is an internationally operating agency for sports and carrier management. We support professional athletes and players from all over the world. From one competent source.

Through thorough analysis and advice addressing professional and social needs we particularly enable foreign talents to access or ascent into the European, mainly German speaking, professional sports business (Germany, Austria, Switzerland).

We also provide targeted talent scouting: The identification, the promotion and the development of talented, ambitious athletes and players.
